Happy New Year!

January has been a fun month, and we have not let the cold bother us. We ventured out to the local museum to check out their Lego display as well as all the other fun things they have to see. Some went to Sparta Floral to remind us that nicer weather will come along with flowers. They have so many animals too, so it was like going to a zoo as well. An author came to talk about his book All About Oz and we watched Wicked. The absolute highlight was having Kenny and Chesney, Kangaroos, come and visit us. We loved watching them hop and explore our room, letting us pet and feed them as well as learning all about them.
